

Snow in the Heartland

A WINTER PORTRAIT OF THE KANSAS CITY METRO

"Winter is the time for comfort, for good food and warmth, for the touch of a friendly hand and for a talk beside the fire: it is the time for home."

-Edith Stillwell

Welcome to "Snow in the Heartland: A Winter Portrait of the Kansas City Metro," an exhibit that delves into the unique beauty and history of Kansas City during the winter months. Through a curated selection of photographs and artifacts found in the MGC Archives, this exhibit captures how the city transforms when temperatures drop, from serene snow-covered parks to bustling winter activities and festive holiday lights. Explore how winter weaves its way into the heart of the metro, creating a season of resilience, celebration, and warmth amid the chill. Let this exhibit transport you to a Kansas City that glitters with snow, while evoking memories of chilly days, cozy gatherings, and the timeless magic of a Midwestern winter.

The MGC Archives is a growing collection. We continuously seek to expand it and all our materials to better reflect and serve the diversity of our community. We invite and encourage donations, especially those that represent diverse voices and cultures. Your contributions will help us to create a more vibrant collection that resonates with and enriches the lives of all library customers.
