... STARK has bought Mr. A. J. Chilton's property, on the corner of Georgia and 14th streets, known as the Kneedler property. He paid $5,000. Mr. Stark will take possession about the first of next month.

PROMPTLY SETTLED.—Dr. McElwee, agent of the Merchants Union Express Co. at this place, informs us that all moneys directed to parties at this place on the way bill at the time of the recent robbery, have been promptly paid over to the parties by the Express Company.

We understand that arrangements are being made for a race between Turner's horse, "Rattle Jack," and blind mare, "Weasel," at Clarksville, one week from to-day. They are both lively nags, and a lively time is expected.

The Pardee Literary Messenger is the title of a neat little paper issued by the students of Pardee College, and which is now in the 2nd volume. It is devoted principally to college matters, and edited by W. A. Smick, R. W. McAfee, Miss Laura Carroll and Miss Jennie Field.

LEFT.—J. W. Smith, Dr. Stewart, J. B. Lingnelter, John Bealbert, Geo. Bestenbottle, W. H. Purse, George Thurmon, (son of C. M. Thurmon), and Mrs. Sarah Bacon left Wednesday morning for California.

Ad. Tinsley left the day before, and will join the party at Omaha.

JUDGE ORR, who has the contract on the Prairieville road from Rockford to the county line beyond Prairieville, and also the Auburn division, was in our office last Monday morning. He informs us he will have the road finished from Rockford to the county line by the last of this month. It is now completed to within a half mile of the line.

W. F. BRISCO, a well-known and most excellent citizen of Hall county, residing about three miles

We are informed, and give full credence to the report, that whole Col. Loneragan was in our city collecting taxes not a single Radical made any objection to any Democrat or Southern man paying taxes. The right of a rebel, even, to pay taxes was not challenged by any Radical in our city.

SNOW.—Snow is a beautiful thing, and poets write some very pretty verses about it, but it is coming a little too early and a little too often this year to inspire our poetic feelings. Last Wednesday it snowed the greater part of the day, and since then everything has worn a dreary, wintry aspect.

MR. JESSE B. BURBRIDGE who left for the Hot Springs in Arkansas, last Monday two weeks ago, died at Little Rock, last Sunday about ten o'clock A. M. He reached Little Rock the Monday preceding, and feeling exhausted from traveling concluded to remain there for several days to recruit his strength. Letters received here last Saturday stated that he was getting better, but late Saturday afternoon a telegram came that he was worse and growing weaker. Monday last his sister, Mrs. Rule, received a dispatch that he was dead. His body is now en route for this place, and will probably arrive here Tuesday morning.

Mr. Burbridge has been ill a long while and suffered much, bearing all his afflictions with a commendable degree of fortitude. He was a good citizen, a kind neighbor and affectionate brother, and husband. He had not an enemy. Peace to his ashes.

GOING ABOARD FOR WHAT CAN BE GOT AT HOME.—Messrs. Stark, Burnett, & Co., have one of the largest and best nurseries in the West. They advertise extensively and sell on very reasonable terms. Their price for apple trees is only sixteen cents. Notwithstanding this fact there are captive. All Free Masons are killed, and all lovers of liberty to be slaves and their wives and children. It is said he evidently believed this story, and is urging upon everyone to fast and pray, and arm in self-defense. Now, we don't believe a word of it, but as Grant has not written Bonner denying his complicity in this diabolical scheme, we advise those who are not fully prepared for an event, to spend to-day in good deeds; let them by all means square and square their accounts with the printer, and should the terrible prophecy not be fulfilled, and on the 15th of November they should find the world going on as usual they may enjoy the pleasure of a clear conscience, and find their lives hereafter happier. Be sure and take notice of this matter, for Mordecai was the Jew, before whom if you wish to fall ye shall not prevail.

AN OLD RESIDENT.—The generation in this community who have known little of the privations and disadvantages under which the first settlers of this country labored. They have known little of the labor and toil it took to open up this beautiful land to cultivation, and turn it from a howling wilderness to a fruitful field.

For this reason, and that a knowledge of the early settlement and development of this county could be easily obtained and preserved, we have on several occasions, suggested and urged a meeting of the old settlers of the county. We know of several men who could give a vast amount of information in regard to the settlement and improvement of this county, as well as of its political history. There is Judge Jas. Stark, who was emigrated to this county and settled on Ramsey's creek fifty-three years this month. That was in the year 1816. He lived on Ramsey creek for many years, and then moved to his present place of residence, where he has lived ever since. He has not been out of the county three days since he first moved in.

persons who delight to occupy the seat next to the aisle, to forbear to monopolize the whole pew or compel others to stooble over their knees. Or, if they are too lazy or do not know enough, to get up and step into the aisle, when a lady wishes to enter the pew, could they not, at least, slide along to the other end? Is it asking too much of these good people to remember that a Christian Church is the last place in the world where selfish, unwhimsical manners may be appropriately displayed.

Tobacco continues stagnant, says the New Orleans Picayune. We have been shown several letters giving gloomy accounts of the early freeze in Kentucky upon the tobacco which have been cut green. It is said that these green tobaccos were frozen in the barns, which will almost destroy their merchantable value. However, the extent of the disaster is doubted by some.

Is the Asiatic Cholera on its March Again?

It is reported that the cholera is raging with severity at the city of Kiev, in Russia. This city is on the Dnieper, one of the rivers of the Black Sea, up which, in 1831-2, the Asiatic pestilence marched towards the Baltic, hence to the British islands, and thence across the Atlantic to Quebec and New York. If vigilantly watched, however, his march may be checked.—N. Y. World.

The New York Tribune says that the Supreme Court bench is to be ornamented by the addition of Attorney General Hoar when the impending Cabinet changes are effected.

Hon. Ignatius Donnelly, in a recent letter, says that the election in Minnesota is a testimony that the people demand of political parties live issues, and that the tariff question will speedily swallow up all other questions, "as the rod of Aaron swallowed up the rods of the conjurers."

Resolved, 1st. That in the death of Mr. Heller this bar has lost an honored and respected member and the community at large a good and worthy citizen.
2d. That we will remember and cherish with lively recollection, his integrity of character, his uniform courtesy and bearing towards us, his associates and fellow-members of the bar.
3d. That we hereby tender to the immediate relatives of our deceased brother, our sincere and heartfelt sympathy in their sad bereavement.
4th. That as a token of regard for the memory of our deceased brother, we will wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days, and attend his funeral in his body.
5th. That the President of this meeting be requested to present a copy of these resolutions to the Louisiana Court of Common Pleas on the assembling of the Court on Saturday next, and request that the same be spread upon the records of said Court.
6th. That the city papers be requested to publish the proceedings of this meeting in their next issues.

Remarks, accompanying the presentation of the resolutions, were made by Col. Dyer, testifying to the respect in which the deceased was held both by his professional brethren and the community to which he lived. Maj. Campbell, in a becoming manner paid a tribute to the memory of the deceased, in referring to the love which the deceased bore to the profession of his choice, his high standing as a citizen and his honor as a man. Remarks appropriate to the occasion were made by Judge Foster.

On motion, Col. Dyer and Maj. Campbell were appointed a committee to make arrangements for the members of this bar to attend the funeral as a body. The meeting then adjourned to assemble at the City Hall at 1 o'clock, p. m., tomorrow, November 28th.

OBITUARY.

Died in Little Rock, Ark., on the 7th inst., Mr. JESSE B. BURBRIDGE, in the 65th year of his age. Mr. Burbridge first took sick last February, with an attack of rheumatism. He was on his way to try the virtues of the Arkansas Hot Springs, when his disease resulted fatally as above. During his long illness he bore his sufferings with great christian forbearance. Some weeks before his death he made a profession of religion, and at the approach of death expressed himself as perfectly happy and willing to go. Mr. B. was a man universally respected by those who knew him, and in all the relations and duties of life he was an honest and upright citizen. He was an affectionate husband and brother, very generous in his feelings, and a friend to the poor. He leaves a wife and sister with a large circle of friends to mourn his loss. They will miss the warm grasp of his hand and the friendly beam of his eye; but with the promise given to them they may hope to meet again, when they pass through the "dark valley of the shadow of death." Though he fled far from home and most of his friends, the strangers where he died did all their power to render his last moments comfortable, and for their many kindnesses his wife and relations desire to return their sincere thanks.
